

Sunday, the 8th of March 2015

Diary

They are here!

On Sunday we had our first meeting with the foreign students and their teachers, except the Portuguese team, as they hadn't arrived yet.

We organized a small first tour for them in the center, starting from Omonoia Square, next to their Hotel.

- We headed to Athena's Street. As we were walking we had some conversations with the Turkish and Lithuanian guys and we immediately broke the ice!
- Our next tour stop was at Varvakios Market. While we were going there, we had a small stop in front of Athen's town hall.
- We made some comments about the area, such as the architecture, Pericles' sculpture and drachma, the old greek currency.
- Our upcoming tour stop was at Monastiraki and its Flea Market. Unfortunately, we could not stay much longer to Monastiraki Square, as it was too crowded.
- Our last stop was at Keramikos, a secret place, the cemetery of ancient Athens.
- Then we went to a tavern where we came closer, eating and talking.

It was amazing to meet our new and interesting friends.

At the beginning we all were shy, but at the end we get along with each other.

We laugh, we made jokes and we had a really great time during our first meeting that evening